

Avianca launches first direct flight between Monterrey and Bogotá, connecting passengers to over 80 international destinations.

- The direct route between Monterrey and Bogotá will begin operations on October 26, with four weekly frequencies.
- Flights will be operated on Airbus A320 aircraft with a capacity for 180 passengers, offering over 1,400 weekly seats between both cities.
- Tickets are now available for purchase via Avianca.com, the Avianca mobile app, and through authorized travel agencies.

Monterrey, August 5, 2025 – Avianca announced the start of ticket sales for its first-ever direct route between Bogotá, Colombia, and Monterrey, Mexico. Starting October 26, travelers will be able to fly between the two cities with four weekly flights.

“We’re proud to welcome Monterrey as a new destination in our route map, offering a direct connection to Bogotá and over 1,400 weekly seats between both cities,” said Frederico Pedreira, CEO of Avianca. “In just the first half of 2025, we transported more than 579,000 passengers between Mexico and other international markets. This new route reinforces our commitment to expanding connectivity and offering our customers more travel options.”

Flight schedule: Monterrey – Bogotá

Route	Flight	Departure	Arrival	Frequency	Start Date
Bogotá-Monterrey	AV266	8:10	12:30	Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Sunday	October 26
Monterrey-Bogotá	AV267	13:50	19:50

Local times Subject to government approval*

“This new direct connection underscores Monterrey’s growing role as a strategic hub in northern Mexico,” said Ricardo Dueñas, CEO of OMA. “We’re pleased to collaborate with Avianca to boost regional development and enhance air connectivity.”

“The launch of Avianca’s direct route to Bogotá broadens Nuevo León’s international air connections and opens new opportunities in tourism, trade, and culture,” added Maricarmen Martínez Villarreal, Secretary of Tourism of Nuevo León. “As we prepare for the 2026 World Cup, strategic partnerships like this are positioning our state as a key Latin American destination.”

With this new route, Avianca will operate nine international routes in Mexico, providing 88 weekly flights, and will further enhance its presence in the country.

Avianca operates the following routes between Colombia, Central America, and Mexico:

Between Colombia and Mexico:

- From Bogota to Mexico City, Cancun, and starting in October, Monterrey.
- From Medellin to Mexico City and Cancun.

Between Central America and Mexico:

- From San Jose to Mexico City
- From Guatemala City to Cancun
- From San Salvador to Mexico City and Cancun