

Monterrey International Airport Announcement

Monterrey, Nuevo León, July 13, 2026.- This afternoon, an aircraft from the airline Aerus performed an emergency landing outside the perimeter of the airport, near the Pesquería River.

According to reports, the three occupants (two crew members and one passenger) were rescued alive and transferred by emergency units for medical attention.

The airport is operating normally: the runway and services were not affected.

From the very beginning, the airport's emergency response center was activated, notifying the Federal Aviation Agency (AFAC) and coordinating with Nuevo León's Civil Protection and the Fire Department for intervention and support. The airport's emergency response center remains active in coordination with authorities and the airline.

We will keep the public informed through our official channels.
